Summer Reading: How to Eat Fried Worms by Thomas Rockwell

James and the Giant Peach by Roald Dahl

Fudge A Mania by Judy Blume

Math: Students must stay current on knowing times tables quickly (no counting on fingers). Please help your student over the summer by providing flash cards or computer math games. Try these web sites or Google math games of your choice.

Google the following topics on the Internet to find articles or check out books on the following. Read information and write 20 facts about each:

- Revolutionary War
- Civil War
- Abraham Lincoln

Research facts will be collected at Meet the Teacher or on the first day of school.

A multiplication test will be given the first week of school.

Accountability activities for the summer reading novels will be the first week of school.

Supply List is on the back of this page.
